Klisura Monastery

Klisura Monastery

- Built in 1240.
- Destroyed during the Ottoman rule.
- In 1862, on the very holiday of St St Cyril and Metodii, the cloister was burnt to ashes while all monks and pilgrims were slaughtered by a Turkish pasha.
- Reconstructed in 1869.
- A new, but significantly smaller church, named St Nikola, was built a few years ago.

Klisura Monastery

Klisura Monastery

- The Klisura monastery offers perfect conditions for a peaceful holiday.
- It has 80 beds and two apartments.
- All rooms have their own bathrooms.
- The restaurant of the monastery offers traditional Bulgarian meals cooked with products of the monastery's farm.
- In addition to food and accommodation, the monastery's staff also offer mountain hiking, horse riding, and folklore performances (including the baking of ritual bread).
